

Queen of the South – King of the Links

Dumfries Pork Sausages were judged the best in Scotland at the Scottish Meat Trade Fair. Gordon Little and son Gordon John, of G Mogerley and Son in Friars Vennel beat off competition from all over Scotland to lift the top prize in this year's competition.

Mogerleys was established in 1876 and Gordon Little has worked in the Friars Vennel shop since 1963 taking over the business in 1973. With his son Gordon John working in the business beside him, the father and son partnership continually strive for good meat products using the best ingredients but this winning taste will already be familiar to his customers:-

"I never make anything specially for the competition. The winning entry came from a normal batch. We make between 300 and 400 pounds of sausages every week and this recognition will be a great boost to our business."

Top: Gordon Little, Helen Young, Gordon John Little and Brian Johnston proudly display their trophy and winners certificate

Below: Mark Barnett, President Scottish Federation of Meat Traders and Danny Upson of sponsors Kerry Lucas congratulate Gordon John for Mogerleys victory:-

